

Children achieve their full potential at Moor Park

WHEN Moor Park, near Ludlow, was established back in 1964, it was founded on the idea that children will only achieve their full potential in an environment in which they are happy; this is something that remains of paramount importance to the school today.

The Headmaster and pupils of Moor Park are looking forward to the completion of the new Boarding House

The children at Moor Park are confident, as well as happy. The school is renowned for its openness and friendliness, but also for its remarkable record of scholarship success: over 50 percent of last year's leavers won an award to their chosen senior school, including Rugby, Shrewsbury and Cheltenham Ladies' College.

Yet, while Moor Park encourages the pursuit of excellence, the school also regards the achievement of individual goals to be just as important as trophies and prizes. Children are allowed the space and freedom to enquire and 'try', in the hope that when the time comes for a boy or girl to move on to their next school, they will have left their mark and will leave as well balanced, and fulfilled young people ready to meet the challenges of senior school.

The school is constantly looking to the future. This is borne out by the investment in the boarding facilities, with a new junior boarding house due to open in January 2010. Moor Park is committed to its boarding, whether that be full, weekly or flexi. The boarding experience can only be described as hugely enjoyable, and it is for this reason that it is usually the child who pushes to extend the number of nights they stay at school.
