WHO AM I?

A singer and songwriter, I was born in Woking in 1958. My real forenames are John William. I came to fame with The Jam in 1977.

Answer: Paul Weller

Tom Cruise stars in Valkyrie.

corner of the supermarket someplace!"

And the actor said Ugly Betty star Rebecca – who is expecting twin girls – is "getting bigger by the day".

● Tom Cruise has reportedly revealed he's positive his film Valkyrie will be a hit.

"The moment I read the screenplay I knew it was an important story, and as it's a true tale of heroic resistance to one of the great villains of history, I can't imagine that people won't want to see it," he told The New York Post's Liz Smith.

The film details the German resistance attempt to assassinate Adolf Hitler. The release date has been changed several times and the trailer was criticised.

Tom confessed he was puzzled by the negativity, saying: "It just doesn't make sense to me."

● Ben Affleck says his pal Matt Damon is thrilled about his new baby daughter.

"I've kind of been texting him back and forth, and he's doing great and (wife) Lucy is doing great," Ben said.

Matt's wife gave birth to their second daughter Gia.

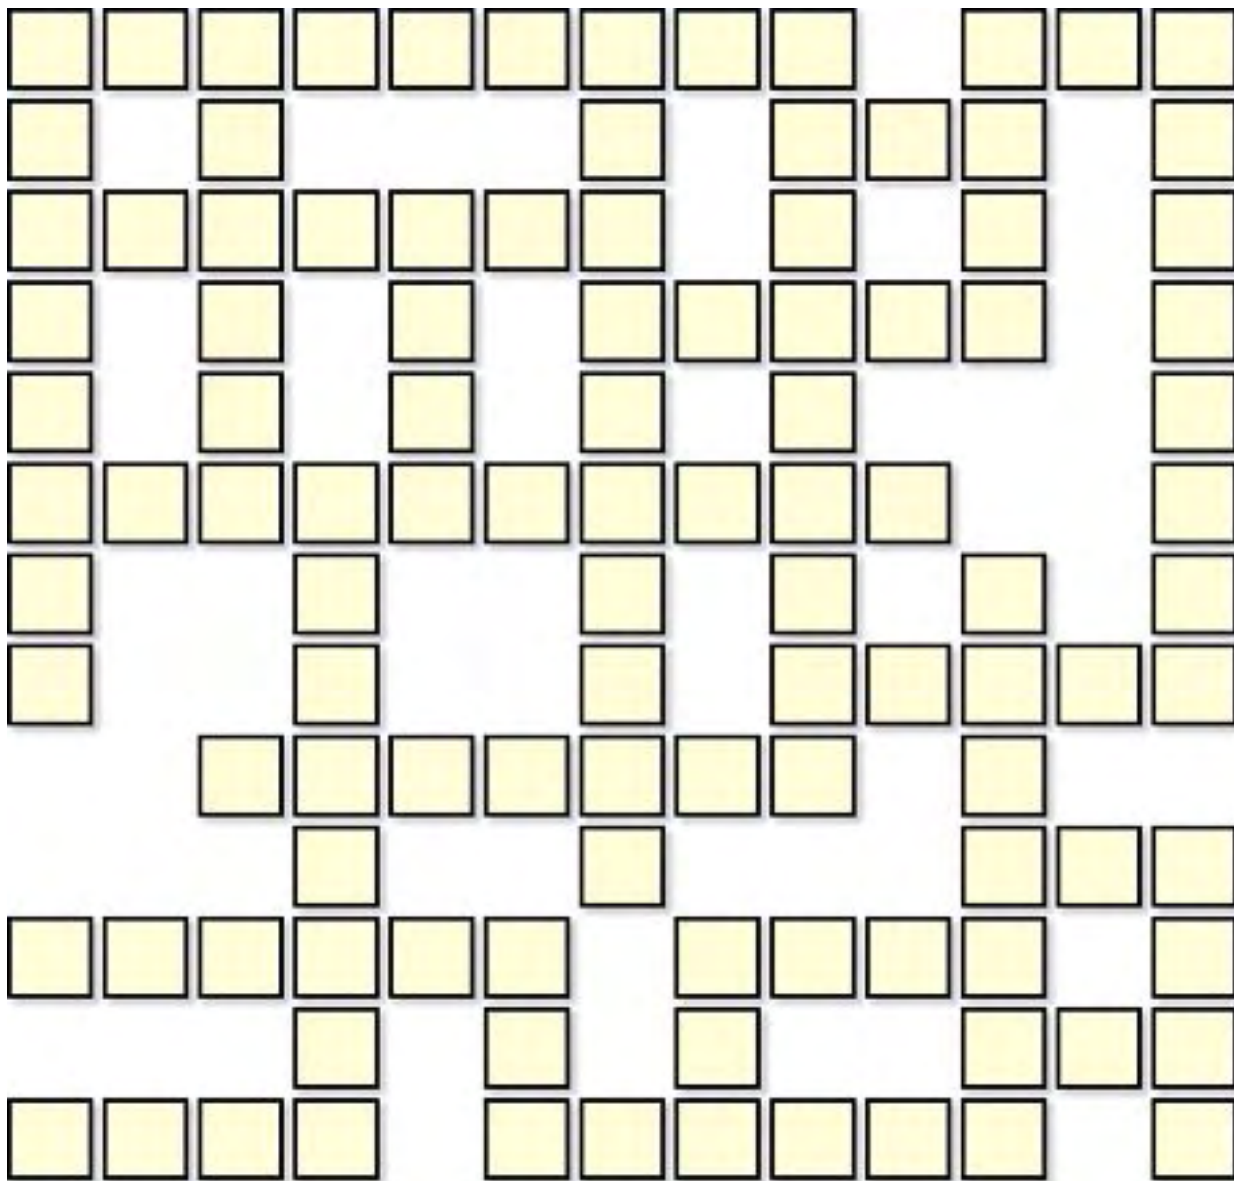

The Bourne Ultimatum star is already dad to Isabella, two and stepdad to Alexia, 10, making him odd man out in a house of ladies.

JENNIFER Aniston is apparently set to return to the small screen, making a guest appearance on comedy 30 Rock.

Various sources report the star is scheduled to begin filming her role any day now.

There's no word on the character Jen will play in the show, which is a behind-the-scenes spoof of a TV network.

Jennifer's stint as Rachel in Friends finished after 10 seasons in 2004. The actress has only made one TV appearance since then – in FX series Dirt, alongside former Friends co-star Courtney Cox.

● Michael Jackson has apparently revealed he feels "wise and sage" after turning 50.

month – told Good Morning America he can still perform his famous dance moves, and still feels "very young".

Michael hinted at a possible comeback by revealing he's writing songs, but said he's also taking it easy with his three children.

"I love composing and the whole thing," he said. "But I'm also raising my children and enjoying it and teaching them to ride bicycles and how to read."

● Hollywood star Johnny Depp returned to his musical roots when he reunited with his old band for a fund-raising gig.

The actor and his old rock band The Kids – which formed in the 70s – performed at the Sheila Witkin Memorial Concert in Florida.

ST MARY'S is an independent day school offering co-education to girls and boys up to the age of seven years and thereafter specialising in the education of girls up to the age of 18 years.

St Mary's is part of a large international foundation with sister schools in almost every continent as well as almost on the doorstep in Reading, Berkshire.

At St Mary's, small class sizes and well-resourced facilities, together with effective teaching, enable high academic achievement without losing sight of individual needs of every pupil. Extension and support can be given to each pupil whenever needed.

Public examination results are consistently well-above the national average and are testimony to the effectiveness of all-girl education.

The school's outstanding pastoral care enables and encourages academic achievement. The fundamental principle which underlies all that it strives to achieve in the pastoral programme is to know and understand pupils well and thereby encourage and aid their growth and development towards adulthood.

An Independent Schools Inspection report of November 2006 said of St Mary's: "Its pastoral care is outstanding throughout its whole age range."

Since it is the aim of the school to educate the whole person, pupils are offered an abundance of opportunities to participate in drama, public speaking, music, sport, art, textiles and design. In addition pupils can benefit from a variety of overseas tours in support of a range of subjects, the most recent being the Barbados Sports Tour.

A St Mary's girl is her own person. She is valued for herself and her opinions are respected. She will be enabled to develop the skills required to become a confident independent thinker well able to deal with the challenges of the world beyond school.

The headmistress, Susan Cookson, would be delighted to welcome prospective parents and pupils to St Mary's when the school is in session or at its next open morning to be held on Saturday, October 11.

Electronic way to stub it out

QUIT smoking the electronic way with an amazing new gadget which offers smokers a healthier, cheaper alternative to cigarettes.

The electronic cigarette, often called "e-cigarette" or "e-cig", allows the smoker to go through the motions of traditional cigarette smoking without the major risks associated with smoking and tobacco use.

The electronic cigarette smoker can inhale and exhale simulated smoke, which is actually vapour but tastes and feels just like real smoke. Nicotine is carried by this vapour to the lungs, giving immediate satisfaction and eliminating cravings, making it easier to quit. Find out more at ecigonline.co.uk.

The e-cig looks like a normal cigarette but it can help you to quit smoking.

New car servicing specialist

FOR many people wanting to have their new car serviced it can be an expensive time.

While many people are anxious to keep the manufacturer's guarantee, they make sure they go to a main dealership to ensure this - but sometimes at a high cost. But there is one company in Ledbury which offers servicing for owners of all makes and models of Alfa and Fiat vehicles and at a fraction of the price that will not affect the warranty.

At Alfa Tech, Unit 1 Bankside Industrial Estate, Ledbury, the team works hard to ensure it offers a personal and professional service for every customer.

Owner Darren Turner, who has run the business since March, said: "We are competitively priced with the main dealers and our customers receive the same service but it's on a more one-to-one basis and we don't cut corners or rush a job."

The firm also specialises in servicing and repairing commercial motor homes and helps keep customers cool by servicing air conditioning and climate control.

Wholesome meals for pets

ROGER and Claire Mayne are introducing the Trophy range of pet foods to the area.

Trophy Pet Foods (Worcester) is a family-run business which sells premium quality, British-made foods for your pets.

The couple said: "We encourage you to read the label on your current brand of dog or cat food and compare the ingredients to the Trophy range. Trophy Pet Foods have no need for small print and we declare in full the ingredients and analysis of our foods along with simple feeding guides. We specially select the best ingredients, supporting British agriculture wherever possible, ensuring that the foods are nutritious, wholesome and palatable."

One of the first things that they noticed when they put their own dog on Trophy Premium Dog Food was that because of the high meat content and outstanding quality of the ingredients (no additives) that they could feed her a smaller quantity so the 15kg bag now lasts longer than her previous food and so saves money.

Trophy Pet Foods offers customers free home delivery, free samples and a 100 per cent no quibble money back guarantee.

SHOWBIZ GOSSIP

EVA LONGORIA PARKER isn't pregnant, according to her Desperate Housewives co-star Felicity Huffman. "She's just fat, that's all there is to it!" Felicity told People.com about the rumours surrounding Eva, aged 33, which started after she was photographed in Los Angeles wearing loose fitting dresses and with a slightly fuller figure. It seems that Eva's new shape is actually for her role as Gabby in the hit US TV series. She has put weight on, and will also wear a fat suit this season for the show's storyline which jumps forward five years, turning Eva's character into an overworked housewife. Nicole Kidman has continued to show her passion for film by donating money to a New York film festival. The Oscar-winning actress is sponsoring awards for best male actor and best female actress at the upcoming TropFest NY, an event honouring achievement in short filmmaking. According to festival founder John Polson, the Australian star, who's married to country singer Keith Urban, didn't take much persuasion. "I went to her a week or two ago, saying we were doing the festival here, and I wanted to give the best actor and actress a great prize and how did she feel about it," he told People. "She generously decided to help out." Paris Hilton reckons that her stint in jail last year made her a stronger person. "That was really hard," she said. "An experience I'll never forget - and never want to repeat." Paris went to jail for a probation violation (driving while on a suspended licence, stemming from an alcohol-related reckless driving charge) last June. Since then, she has settled down, making movies, filming an MTV show and finding love with Good Charlotte rocker Benji Madden. "I'm in a really great relationship right now and we're really happy. One day I would love to have children," she said, although dismissed recent rumours that she is engaged. The Jonas Brothers were a little starstruck when they met Britney Spears for the first time at the recent MTV VMAs. "We were so excited," Kevin Jonas said. "It was an honour and privilege to meet Britney Spears, of course. She looked great. We love her music."

ADVERTISING FEATURE

An award-winning service

As we all know lavatories are the great levellers within society. We all have to use them.

Andyloos can hire one simple plastic lavatory to a builder or a luxury trailer for a wedding and the firm can also accommodate events which require a full mix of equipment including standard units, trailers (both standard and luxury), effluent and grey water collection and storage facilities.

Andyloos can even supply showers and water storage, special purpose ease of access units for disabled and infirm people, luxury vacuum systems that can be installed within a structure or building, together with all the attendant staff, tankers and vehicles.

At the 2007 festival awards the Big Chill - held at Eastnor Castle, near Ledbury - won best festival lavatories. These were supplied and serviced by Andyloos in the most difficult weather conditions for years. The company also won awards at both the 2007 and 2008 Loo of the Year awards.

The emptying of cess pits and septic tanks is also a facility that the company is pleased to offer. This can be on a one-off basis or at regular pre-arranged times.

Andyloos products have been developed for more than 20 years and incorporate all the experience gained during that period of time.

The company has recently moved to much larger premises at Hartlebury, near Stourport-on-Severn, in order to provide improved services for all of its customers.

For more details telephone 01299 254420 or visit andyloos.co.uk.

WORCESTER Aerial Service has been established since 1971. The business was originally formed to provide standard aerials compatible with televisions of the day.

However, times have changed and it now supplies and installs Sky television. The company employs many highly-trained and fully-qualified engineers with a vast wealth of experience at the very highest level.

As technology has moved forward the engineers have ensured that they are not just up-to-date but in front of all of today's ever-changing technological advances. The company's mission is to deliver the best products at the right price on time while demonstrating the optimum courtesy and respect for the client and their home.

Although almost every household has one or more television sets, it's worth double-checking that they are digital in readiness for when the big switch takes place.

By 2012, any home that hasn't made the change to digital will lose the existing terrestrial channels.

Therefore, it makes sense to be prepared and have a close look at the numerous available options for going digital.

These include receiving digital TV through a satellite dish from Sky TV by subscription or Freesat.

The company is able to advise on the best option for receiving Sky and take into account the property, equipment and your budget.

Worcester Aerial Service doesn't just keep up with the times, it is in front of today's technology. Picture by Roy Booker. 36002002

There are many benefits in using a local company because of its extensive knowledge of installing digital TV in the area.

For those thinking about getting Sky, a local installer can fit the dish at a convenient time.

If the property is a listed building, the firm can suggest an alternative place to site the dish, such as on a garden shed.

Staff will also demonstrate how to use the system once it has been installed. Pre and post-surveys can be carried out for further advice, but there may be a charge for this service.

To get Sky installed from Worcester Aerials telephone 01905 207751.
