Our Jobs & Careers Fair can provide a better future

If you are looking for the job of your dreams you will find it at Worcester's biggest and most prestigious careers fair. Tomorrow is the 10th Worcester News Jobs & Careers Fair to be organised since 2001.

An estimated 2,000 people are expected to attend the event and it has attracted exhibitors ranging from health and recruitment agencies to educational establishments.

The event has been organised in association with Jobcentre Plus and is being sponsored by Hewett Recruitment.

It is aimed at people of all ages looking for their first job or just a change.

Melanie Jarrett, event co-ordinator for the Worcester News, said: "We think it has the best mix of employers for an event like this in Worcestershire."

"It is always highly popular and we take care to make sure we have got what people want. We always have a good cross-section of exhibitors."

"Job-seeking can be a difficult and often stressful task, and it is much better to be able to look at a range of vacancies gathered under one roof."

More than 1,200 pamphlets advertising the event have been distributed to JobCentres and tourist information centres in the Worcester area.

● The Worcester News Jobs & Careers Fair takes place in Worcester Guildhall's lower hall, from 10 am- 4.30pm tomorrow, Thursday, September 27.

The University of Worcester will be represented at the Jobs & Careers Fair at the Guildhall, tomorrow. 11576713

Be on course with college's dramatic arts

KIDDERMINSTER College is one of the few colleges in Worcestershire to offer such an extensive range of performing arts courses.

It specialises in film, drama, dance, music technology, DJ, music and performance skills, together with technical skills such as music industry management, writing, production, costume design, make-up and lighting.

Students have access to modern performance and dance studios together with professional sound and recording facilities at the town centre campus.

Tutors have professional experience in the performing arts industry and there are strong links with professional practitioners.

The growing opportunities in film are limitless and the college's higher national diploma course in film production provides an excellent progression route into this challenging and fast-paced sector.

The programme is delivered in partnership with Worcester University and students have access to the additional facilities that a university campus has to offer.

Kidderminster College is also committed to working with professional practitioners to enrich students' artistic vision and enable them to reach their full potential.

Recently, professional actors Richard Lee-Berke and Daniel

Hawthorne were invited to direct major college productions and this involvement with industry professionals provides an excellent introduction to the world of work.

Furthermore, Led Zeppelin front man Robert Plant, who lives locally, is patron of the college's independent record label MAS Records.

He joined forces with his fellow band member, Kevyn Gammond, a music lecturer and course leader at Kidderminster College, to help talented students to progress in the music industry.

Students have provided the support slot for Plant's own gigs, and he donated a previously unreleased song to feature on the first MAS compilation CD.

Most of the output of the MAS label is recorded and produced in the custom-designed and built recording studio.

This digital facility is the nerve centre of the music technology courses. For more than 20 years the college has produced students of the highest calibre in this ever-expanding field who go on to establish themselves within the business as engineers, producers, artistes and performers in their own right.

Also supporting the performance programmes are specialised technical award courses.

These are designed to give

Kidderminster College encourages students to enrich their artistic vision and reach their full potential.

students an excellent opportunity for training in lighting and sound techniques, stage management and stage design.

They also provide excellent stepping stones into higher education and the performance industry.

The performing arts department at Kidderminster College has an impressive record of placing students either directly into the business or at prestigious universities, drama, dance and music schools.

Royal Shakespeare Company actor Jim Fish said: "I had such an excellent grounding at Kidderminster College and I am really grateful to it."

A Career in Trucks

Teacher supply consultancy knows just what is required by its schools

A4E Education is a teacher supply consultancy based in Worcester. With more than 20 years of industry experience, its dedicated professional consultants provide a first class service to both schools and teachers alike.

A4e Education provides primary, secondary and special needs teachers, nursery nurses and classroom assistants throughout Worcestershire.

All of its teachers are of the highest calibre and go through the required stringent checks in line with those established by the Quality Mark, meaning that up-to-date criminal record buerau list 99 checks and five years of references are completed on every teacher.

A4e obtained the Quality Mark in June 2006. It is given to educational recruitment consultancies that have been audited by the Department for Educational and Skills to ensure best practice.

A4e is passionate about offering the best level of services which are totally unrivalled by any of its competitors.

With this in mind, schools can expect to receive a dedicated consultant from A4e who understands just what are their needs and requirement.

With more than 200 teachers available, A4e is able to offer a full range of bookings from day-to-day emergency cover, short or long term and even permanent placements.

Contact Liz Bosley for more information on 01905 796 309.

The company's commitment to teachers is also very important.

Again, with a dedicated consultant, teachers are able to chat either by e-mail, telephone or in person at any time.

A4e really does try to place every teacher in the school that is right for them, that is why a face-to-face interview is so important to them.

The company likes to get to know its teachers and nursery nurses and has occasional get-togethers.

A4e really does believe that together staff and teachers can make a difference. The company's motto is "improving people's lives".

This includes the life of a teacher and those of the pupils and staff in the schools with which A4e works.

If you are a teacher who is looking for supply work, or perhaps even thinking about doing some supply work further down the line, why not give A4e a call or just pop in for a chat with a member of staff. It offers a full range of bookings from day-to-day emergency cover, short or long term and even permanent placements.

To arrange an informal chat, contact Liz Bosley or Kirsten Yarsley on 01905 796309. Alternatively, call into the A4e office at County House, St Mary Street, Worcester.

University offers far more for its students

IF you are keen to develop your career, aiming to change direction in your working life, or want to discover more about public and private business partnerships, then the University of Worcester is open to you.

It offers excellent courses, flexible study options and strong vocational links to bring higher education opportunities to all.

This year, applications to its business courses are up a staggering 200 per cent, the university is the highest climber in the Guardian's league tables and it received the second highest UK increase in degree applications.

Business, arts, humanities and sciences thrive on the university's parkland campus in St John's, where investment in its students is key. Over £6 million has recently been spent on a new digital arts centre, a 3D motion analysis centre and award winning cutting edge technology has been applied throughout the campus.

The university's course offering has expanded into a range of new areas, including forensic science, marketing, pre-hospital and emergency care (paramedic training), journalism, social work and advertising.

For a chance to find out more about courses, take a tour of campus and to meet with tutors the university has three open afternoons on Wednesday, October 24, Thursday, October 25 and Wednesday, November 14 from 1pm to 5pm. ## HFT - who are we?

We exist to provide the very best quality of support and care for people with a learning disability, and their families.

HFT was established 45 years ago and we have grown and developed into a progressive organisation, pioneering many areas of research and service provision so people with learning disabilities receive the highest possible level of social inclusion. The HFT that exists today offers a wide range of diverse services throughout the UK for over 1,000 people, whether in supported living or registered care homes or via supported employment, domiciliary care or day services. We offer a range of Registered Residential Services and Supported Living initiatives throughout England and also run many discrete specialist services for people with specific syndromes or complex support needs.

HFT provides inclusive services, which are individually tailored to each person's needs and wishes. Our values are key to all of the services we provide and apply equally to staff and service users. In everything we do, we emphasise the importance of care, consultation and communication - we provide a caring and supportive environment where consultation and communication are central to providing quality services. We value diversity and we ensure that people have the opportunity to develop skills and experiences. We uphold the individual's right to respect and dignity and we believe in empowerment - we enable people to develop their potential, to make informed choices and to take responsibility.

HFT's Arden Vale services are in Worcestershire, Warwickshire and Gloucestershire.

If you would like to join one of our teams, or for further information on positions available, please contact Jeannette Rix, Service Manager, on 01789 772141 or visit our website www.hft.org.uk

HFT is committed to equal opportunities and welcomes applications from appropriately qualified people from all sections of the community.

Bizzy Times At BizzEnergy

BizzEnergy is a Worcester based, dynamic, rapidly growing award winning electricity supplier. Established in 2000, we are the largest independent supplier of electricity to UK businesses. We currently have over 40,000 customers ranging from SME's to blue chip global clients to public sector organisations.

A dynamic, award winning company ranked 54th in the 2006 Sunday Times Fast Track 100, we have enjoyed spectacular growth, with sales rising to £160 million last year with continuing ongoing ambitious growth plans.

It's a competitive world out there and nothing stays the same for very long. Our organisation meets these challenges head on and thrives on the chance to make a difference. The first to approach the electricity industry with a passion to do things differently, we have continued to build on our reputation for innovation and quality.

We do this because we have the very best that there is within our team. We're proud of our Company, our achievements and our people — it's our people who make the difference.

We know the power and potential of team work — when we are working together well we are virtually unstoppable! We require all our team to work in harmony and with respect for colleagues, customers and contacts.

Our benefits are as you would expect from a professional and expanding organisation and include competitive salaries, generous holidays, company pension scheme and private medical insurance. But it's the softer benefits that make us stand out from the competition — the chance to work with a great group of colleagues and a culture that encourages individual contributions are just some of the things our people talk about.
